Phil Matthews	I have for the last three years taken part in the annual PEAT inspections at Salisbury Foundation Trust Hospital and take part in regular ward inspections throughout the year at the hospitals request. I was a member of the PPI Forums and took part in visits during that time too. From 1971-1974 I was on the local Social Services Committee of Wiltshire County Council following the 1970 Social Services Act which required a representative from the local Council. At the time I was a Councillor on the Amesbury Rural District Council. I visited local children's homes; the assessment centre in Salisbury for children and what was then call part three accommodation for the elderly. I visited these places on a monthly basis. These inspections/visits were unannounced.

Jill Tompkins	As a volunteer I have many years of experience of the provision of care services in the community. I meet the requirements as given in the person specification for Enter and View. I have a commitment to equality and diversity, and have recently taken part in several training and evaluation sessions held at the RUH, AWP, WPCT and Wiltshire Council. I have good communication, observational and inter personal skills through training and experience in health and social services. I have a good working knowledge of acceptable standards. I always show respect and I am very aware of the need for confidentiality. The need to record findings in an acceptable way is vital. As a volunteer for charities or other providers of services I regularly visited nursing and care homes to support residents in any appropriate way. I have received Enter and View training.

Anne Keat	Career in nursing culminating as a ward sister in Chippenham. I have a son with Cerebral Palsy/Quadriplegia. Both these 'qualifications' show my obvious interest in health and social care. I am very concerned in the political aspect of health and social care because we do an about turn every time the government changes. It is as though everything in the past is bad when we know it is not.

Mary Johns	Prior to taking early retirement caused through a road accident I worked for Wiltshire Social Services as an instructor at Middlefield adult training centre in Chippenham, where I instigated and developed a voluntary work scheme to integrate people with special needs into the community. My other employment has been secretary at Wiltshire Police headquarters, Nurse at Devizes Maternity Hospital and worked and trained in the Occupational department at Roundway Hospital, Devizes. I was a member of a committee set up in Devizes to look at provision of services for various disabled groups in the area. Here I was involved in providing ramps throughout Devizes, the publication of a 'Benefits Rights Guide', the PHAB bus and the planning and conversion of the old school kitchens into the Nursteed Centre Devizes which is still in use. I have sat on many meetings and interview panels at Wiltshire Council. I have recently been trained and taken part in the South West Dementia Partnership Improving Dementia Care in Hospitals, Peer reviews at the Great Western Hospital, Swindon. I have also attended 2 day training for monitoring the provision of the Help to Live at Home service which is ongoing. I have also attended training with WIN for Enter and View. At present my mother is in hospital and i have been visiting residential care homes to see what they offer before any decision can be made as to her future care. For the past year mum has received respite care in a residential home. I feel all my training and experience in both health and social care, my past experience as a carer and my involvement in trying to improve the standards of care received by all in our community particularly vulnerable people who have nobody to speak for them or who are too frightened to say anything themselves. Through my caring role I have had experience of a range of service provision using care agencies, care and repair, hospital services and neighbourhood teams, podiatry services, wheelchair services, lifeline, social services, doctors surgeries and residential homes I have found that provision can be good but also it can be not at the standard expected. For all these reasons I feel I have the quality and experience to take on the Enter and View role.

Anna Farquar	Because of the nature of my employment before retirement I have maintained good interpersonal skills, including good communication and listening skills. I am used to dealing with people of a varied backgrounds and abilities who are both volunteers and or salaried personnel. As a past member of the Community Health Councils and Chair of the Ambulance PPI Forum I have knowledge of both health and social care and also experience of inspecting establishments where good observational skills were an asset. I have also been the patient experience member on PEAT inspections. I am a caseworker for SSAFA and as such must visit clients and obtain details of a highly confidential nature. This type of work also involves the writing of report which must be clear and concise but also contain all relevant details which may help with assistance from various benevolent societies to which they are sent. Respect and a commitment to equality and diversity must always be shown towards the client. I have recently been issued with an updated CRB.

Veronica Parker	Having retired from a long career in education, which included headships, schools adviser, teacher training and schools inspector, has provided me with the experience in working on several level with supporting children and their families. Liaising with medical practitioners, social services, health visitor's psychologists and many other professional personnel was an essential requirement. I have worked in many areas of differing social needs and experienced significant and great health inequality. This has given me a strong interest in health and social care, experience in recognising individual and collective needs and on assisting on improving services for everyone when required. I listen carefully, think problems through and work diligently towards finding acceptable solutions, which offer equality and good value. I believe this is how LINKs could help bring improvements for local communities by listening and considering local views. I was an active member of the PPIF for five years until its demise in 2008. During this time I was Vice Chair of the RUH PPIF. Upon the inception of LINKs I became a member of BANES LINK. I am skilled in assessing situations, a good team member and willing to work with others to achieve improvement or change where necessary and when needed. It is essential that all Enter and View personnel whether engaged in announced or unannounced visits should have a clear understanding of why it is considered necessary to enter and view a particular setting. Good observational and interpersonal skills along with good communication and confidentiality must be observed at all times.

Sandra Baker	I am over 18 and have brought up a family of 3 children. I was employed until last year as a team leader for a domiciliary care company, which meant I did assessments on new service users, so that involved observations, listening to needs and seeing how they could be helped. I have worked in the caring field all my life, first as a nurse. I was a home carer for many years then I was seconded to the community support team when it was first set up. This was jointly working between health and social care so I have knowledge of that. In this role some of the care was done in homes, so I have visited some of these and have an understanding of how things should be. As a team leader I supervised staff and wrote up notes of any visit. I respect all people and am committed to treating them equally regardless of gender, age, ethnicity or diversity. People have commented in the past that I am a good listener.
