

THINK AUTISM WILTSHIRE, NOVEMBER 2016

A CALL FOR WILTSHIRE RESIDENTS ON THE AUTISM SPECTRUM, THEIR FRIENDS AND FAMILIES TO SHARE THEIR VIEWS.

It's a well-documented fact that people on the autism spectrum can sometimes find themselves on the wrong side of the criminal justice system. Wiltshire Autism Partnership is staging an event at the end of the year to highlight this issue and give everyone a chance to join in the conversation about it. To start off the event we are staging a short and informal performance which draws together some tales from across the county about how people with autism can sometimes find themselves dealing with security guards, the police and probation services, solicitors and court staff.

If anyone wants to share a story, view or opinion (or if they would like to be involved in performing) they can contact Richard Conlon who will be working on the performance and piecing together a text which shines some light on this subject and helps everyone look for ways to make things better in the future.
